MONEY FOR BONDS RECEIVED BY CITY

City Commissioner of Finance W. B. Jones is just lousy with money today. This morning he received by public conveyance the sum of $341,895.63 in what is sometimes called currency or coin of the realm. This amount was the proceeds of city bonds sometime ago voted and sold for the purpose of doctoring our system of waterworks and all appearances thereto belonging.

Of the amount this day received by Mr. Jones, $335,000 represented the principal of the bond issue, $2,750 premium paid for the bonds, and $4,145.63 representing accrued interest. Now that the cash is available the work for which the bonds were voted will be taken up just as soon as the weather will permit. It is the intention of the city commissioners to press this work to the earliest possible conclusion.

He says the poet soldier is afraid of assassination and is constantly under guard and that his action in seizing the city resulted in international embarrassment for Italy.

Signor Zanella says President Wilson's program by which the future status of Fiume is to be fixed is not acceptable to the people of the city, adding that Fiume which is not important to Jugo-Slavia, which has a better port at Spalato must be Italian.

Mayor Judges 3 Drunk In Police Court Tribunal

The mayor got in behind his desk in police court this morning and handed out justice to three separate and distinct gentlemen arraigned before him for hearing. The three offenders were and are yet L. THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR PAIR OF DUROCS

The Stanfield Livestock Company of Ada, of which Allen Stanfield is manager, has just contracted for the purchase of a pair of Red Duroc hogs for a noted hog raiser at Peoria, Illinois. The contract price is not announced, but it is understood that the figure will be considerably over the ten thousand dollar mark.

The pair of porkers contracted for are a male and sow. They will probably reach Ada during the latter part of February. Allen Stanfield is very sanguine as to the success of hog raising in Pontotoc county, and predicts that this section will soon be recognized as the leading hog country of the southwest. The county already has quite a number of high grade hogs, and all those interested in hog raising report the best of success.

An associate of the Stanfield Livestock Company has just advertised a sale of Poles in Kansas City and writes that a number of hogs were sold for record prices. The first twenty-five sows sold brought a total of $84,750, or an average price of $3,390. "Fashion Girl," the dam of "Liberator," the champion boar of the world, was sold for $17,200. "Designer," a full brother of "Liberator," sold last fall for $30,000.

Offered Money To Kill Ragland Man Testifies

KONAWA, Okla., Jan. 23. (Special.)—That Jno. Cravens on more than one occasion offered him a large sum of money to "do away with" Tom Ragland, was the statement of J. C. Fleming of Atoka county in the preliminary hearing of Cravens and others yesterday afternoon. The story produced a sensation in the court room.

At the close of the hearing Justice Snider, in whose court the preliminary was held, remanded the four prisoners to the county jail without bail to await the action of the district court of Seminole county. Besides Cravens the accused are Jim Goodrich, Leonard Surratt, and Art Cravens, the latter a sixteen-year-old son of Jno. Cravens, Surratt is Cravens' nephew.

The preliminary lasted thru three days. County Attorney James H. Cobb was assisted by Geo. C. Crump of Holdenville, former district judge, and Al G. Nichols of Wewoka, a former county attorney of Seminole county. The defense was conducted by Pryor & Stokes of Wewoka.

It is believed here that the arrest of Cravens was largely due to his behavior immediately following the killing of Ragland. It is said that he alone of all the citizens in the East Fairview country remained away from the scene of the tragedy and had nothing to do with the attempt to trail the murderers. The next day he went to Ada and spent the day in conference with certain of his friends there.

Cravens and Ragland were neighbors and had been known to be enemies for a number of years. Cravens was elected county commissioner in 1916 on the republican ticket, but while Ragland was a Mississippi democrat, it is not believed that political differences had anything to do with the feeling between the two, as the democrats withdrew their candidate against Cravens and supported him in order to defeat the socialist candidate, Al Huchelberry. His official record was good and it was on his own motion that Cravens retired at the end of his first term.

During the great war Tom Ragland was one of the most active workers in this county. He took part in every war activity and did a great deal of work to keep his district in line with every war campaign. He was a man of pronounced patriotism, having served with Gen. Roy Hoffman in the Spanish-American war.

CHICAGO TEACHERS GET INCREASED PAY

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Chicago school teachers who yesterday appealed to the board of education for a six per cent wage increase, will receive a blanket raise of $400 to $500 a year, George P. Arnold, chairman of the board, announced today.

Leaders of the teachers indicated they would accept the award as temporary relief but they would continue their fight to put teaching on a wage plane at least equal to that of common laborers. They asked the minimum of $1200 and a maximum of $2500 for the six thousand elementary teachers with other classes in proportion.

Monarchists Active in Austria.

By the Associated Press
VIENNA, Jan. 23.—There is a growing belief here that the approaching Hungarian elections will result in the establishment of a Monarchist government. For this reason Monarchist activity in Austria is being watched closely and there have been rumors that a reactionary coup would be attempted.

While Chancellor Renner was in Prague recently an agreement was reached by which that country undertook to not supply arms to Hungary but Austria agreed to furnish a certain amount of arms and ammunition. It is pointed out that this agreement was significant because if a Monarchy is established in Hungary Austria would be the front line of defense against the attempt of such a movement.

LAKE MICHIGAN SAILORS ARE LOCKED IN ICE

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Marooned in the ice for 86 hours, eighteen seamen members of the crew of the Green boat Sidney O. Neff today are practically without food and their situation is becoming serious. The steamer is caught in an ice jam six miles off the harbor mouth. Eight foot blocks of ice have frozen around the Sidney O. Neff. Two tugs are waiting to go to the relief of the sailors but shipping men say it would be unadvisable to back the ice jam as long as the present east wind continues.

Prior to January 1, there were ginned in Pontotoc county of the crop of 1919, 22,233 bales of cotton, compared with 12,410 bales for the same period during 1918. This information is given out by A. W. McKel of Ada, special agent for this county.

CANADA'S A-ROLLICKING ON THE SNOW CRUST

The lid is lifted in Canada—er, the temperamental lid. The damper of war and absence of loved ones is removed. In local parlance, "la guerre est finie" and gay spirits are making up for lost seasons by a riotous whirl of winter sports.

As the days begin to lengthen and the cold begins to strengthen, the snow takes on a sparkling dryness that adds to the pleasure of outdoor sports. For the months of January and February all Canada becomes intoxicated with the desire to spend as many hours as possible in the open. Visitors to the Dominion find this mood infectious and nowhere is this more in evidence than in the quaint old city of Quebec.

Nature fashioned this city's site for sport. Every steep little street that claws its crooked way from the waterfront to the heights, is a possible slide, while the triple track toboggan slide that begins at the grim gray Citadel and ends in a huge snow bunker on Dufferin Terrace is world famous. The picturesque, many-turreted Chateau Frontenac that overlooks this slide, is naturally headquarters for Society during its winter revels. Its charming tea-room opens onto the Terrace and glowing tobogganists run in for a cheering cup, then disappear through another door that gives onto the inner court where skating and ice-dancing are in order.

Merry parties assemble in the tea-room at all hours. One party will be ready for a snowshoe tramp to "The Rendezvous" with its tea and cakes, five miles across country. Another group will have requisitioned the 1919 Model bob-sleighs, that form part of the Chateau's sport equipment for a sporty racing event. An impending hockey match is providing spirited discussion and betting in a bunch about the big fire-place. Still another party is preparing to ski, and there is no reason why every visitor to Quebec should not learn this graceful sport for the Chateau management has engaged two Norwegian ski-jumpers to instruct its guests.

ONE WAY FOUND FOR HELPING TO SOLVE HIGH COST OF LIVING: LIVE IN TENT

Thomas Sheehan's tent home with children in entrance.

The shortage of homes and the rent problem is just as acute in the national capital as in any part of the country. Rents are prohibitive to many folk there. Thomas Sheehan found one solution to the high rent problem by buying himself a tent and pitching it in a back yard. He and his family live in it the year around.

Plans Being Made For Conservation Of Mineral Supply

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 23.—Millions of dollars worth of mineral salvage has been effected recently through the activities of the Bureau of Mines in the campaign being conducted to improve the handling methods used in digging out America's great natural resources. Particularly in the last five or six years has the Government been watching with more than ordinary closeness the prodigal waste that exists in exploitation of American mineral and other natural resources, and every effort is now being bent to get the most out of the still lavish supply.

The present campaign, which is more of a policy of administration, is built around the chain of experiment stations to help in working out the most difficult problems confronting each community. In all there are eleven of these stations and they are geographically located so as to nearly approximate a separate station for each separate natural resource field.

In the clay industry, for instance, the Government has established an experiment station at Columbus, O., situated in the heart of one of the largest producing fields in the country. This station is cooperating with the clay digging interests and lending its advice and experiment services to the more than 4,000 clay product manufacturing firms of the country. The annual returns from this industry are approximately $210,000,000, and the clay firms of the country represent an investment of about $375,000,000. Highly satisfactory improvements have been effected in the handling and treatment of clay products through the experiments of the Columbus station and they have resulted in large annual savings.

One of the most important economic problems the country has known since the days of '49 has been that of salvaging the low-grade ores. Billions of tons of mineral-bearing earth have been scrapped in the West because the large operator had no time to bother with anything but "pay dirt" and the small operator lacked the funds for making the "low-pay" dirt yield its riches. In the Colorado radium-bearing fields the earth was at one time practically thrown at the European market for a song because the yield was so trivial from American viewpoint. But the European buyers developed ways of getting radium out through reasonable treatment, and then shipped it back to us at stupendous prices. Through the efforts of the Golden, Colo., station and American extraction method has been developed and the ground work of a radium industry in this country established.

This same situation was true, and still is in part, of the other mineral fields, including the ore lands of the northwest and the Pacific, the lead and zinc fields of Utah and neighboring states and the iron lands of Minnesota. The Bureau of Mines now has stations established at Minneapolis, Salt Lake City, Utah, Seattle, Wash. Tucson, Ariz., and Berkeley Cal., combating these low-grade ore problems and they are meeting with marked success. In Minnesota alone it is estimated the reserve of low-grade magnetic iron ores amounts to some forty billion tons. Until recently these ores, including vast deposits of the Cuyuna Range, had been untouched because there had been no process devised for treating them profitably.

In Pittsburgh, the work of the Bureau of Mines has been very generally exploited and the experiment station has dealt largely with all the problems of mining, including those of mine safety. The particular problems of this territory have to do with coal mining and safety methods for combatting mine gasses and explosions. Great savings have also been effected through the work of the experiment station at Bartlesville, Okla., where economic methods of oil drilling and stopping of waste in the natural gas fields has presented a problem.

"Work such as this," according to Director Manning of the Federal Bureau, "not only stimulates mineral production and helps to make available tremendous resources that are now unused, but it increases the total wealth of the nation and ultimately benefits every citizen."

Speaking of the situation particularly in the west, where low-grade earth must be made to pay, he said:

"At more than a dozen mills in the West engineers from the stations are working directly with the mill men on various problems, and the results they have already obtained more than warrant the existence of the stations. Success in solving one problem may easily be worth millions to the country."

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

The great senatorial battle in Oklahoma has gone dragging. People were so afraid it was going to be a red-hot struggle, that no one will have anything to do with it.

Have Pains?

Aches and pains seem to be the lot of the ordinary mortal. However, these should be taken simply as nature's warning signals that some part of the human machine is out of order. It is a mistake to resign one's self to physical torture when the cause can be removed.

tone up weak, inactive, sluggish kidneys and help rid the blood of poisonous waste matter that causes aches and pains in arms and legs, backache, rheumatic pains, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints.

Isaac B. Turnman, Ashbury Park, N.J., writes: "My back caused me a great deal of trouble for some time. I experienced sharp, shooting pains which were due to the condition of my kidneys. One bottle of Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me. The pains left my back. I recommend Foley Kidney Pills to my friends."

VIRGINIA WOMAN HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

"I was almost a complete nervous wreck when I started taking Tanlac, and it has not only completely restored my health but I have gained twenty-five pounds besides," said Mrs. C. H. Reid, 603 Chestnut street, Portsmouth, Va., recently.

"For three years," she continued, "I was troubled with indigestion, nervousness, loss of sleep and headaches. My food soured on my stomach and formed gas that pressed up into my chest and throat and around my heart so that I would have awful smothering spells. I had nervous headaches and pains in my back and shoulders would almost drive me wild. I would get dizzy and so nervous I would almost scream; I got down to eighty-five pounds and was so weak I would just give out several times during the day.

"After trying everything else I knew of without getting any better Tanlac gave me a splendid appetite and now I can eat anything and my digestion is perfect. I am not troubled at all with gas or palpitations, dizziness or smothering spells and I sleep soundly all night. Headaches, nervousness, pains in my back and shoulders are all gone and I never have that tired, worn out feeling any more."

NEW BETHEL

The New Bethel school gave a box supper Friday night for the benefit of the athletic fund. Which brought one hundred twenty-three dollars and fifteen cents. The money will be used in buying equipment for the girls' basketball team, the boys' baseball team, and a volleyball.

That the community have the proper school spirit is not only shown by the proceeds of the supper mentioned above, but by the following list of supplies that have been added this year: three convection heaters, three sanitary water coolers, four chemical toilets, one teacher's desk and chair, two suspension globes, one history chart, one chart on physiology and hygiene, one set of wall maps, and twenty tubular steel sanitary desks.

The school has enrolled seventy pupils, with about sixty in regular attendance. New pupils are being enrolled daily from families that have just moved into the district.

DOWNFALL OF PRESENT GERMAN GOVERNMENT LOOMS NEAR

Dispatches telling of the latest rioting in the German capital, which brought about a declaration of martial law throughout Germany by the Ebert government, depict conditions which indicate that the present Ebert government is nearing its end. It was freely predicted when the armistice was signed that the government officials who "kneel to the allies" could not long hold sway. Premier Bauer of the Ebert cabinet shocked official circles during the rioting when he announced that Independent Socialist members of the assembly motioned the mob into action from one of the windows of the reichstag. In proclaiming martial law President Ebert announced that Minister of Defense Gustave Noske had been made commander in chief of all armed forces in the empire to handle the situation.

WHO WILL GET THE BIG M.E. COLLEGE?

COMMISSION WILL HOLD MEETING IN OKLAHOMA CITY MARCH 2, AT WHICH CHOICE WILL BE MADE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 22.—Bishop Edwin D. Mounson of Dallas, chairman of the Educational Commission of the East and West Oklahoma conferences of the M. E. Church, South, has called a meeting of the commission for March 2 to be held in Oklahoma City. It is probable that at this meeting the commission will select the town or city or near which it is to be established the million and a half dollar college provided for by the two conferences in their last annual meeting.

The commission, of which the Rev. R. E. L. Morgan of Oklahoma City is secretary, has word that probably half a dozen towns and cities of the state will be bidders for the institution. It probably will be awarded to that which offers the best inducements.

The college is to be of the Class A variety, granting A. B. and B. S. degrees, and is to be affiliated with the Southern Methodist University of Dallas. Mr. Morgan expects that as much as $500,000 will be obtained from the general educational board of the church and that what is needed over that amount and the amount to be given by the community that gets the college will be raised from among the 60,000 members of the M. E. Church, South, in Oklahoma.

Membership in the educational commission is held by Dr. L. S. Barton of Tulsa, the Rev. John Abernathy of Okmulgee, Judge Orlando Swain of Okmulgee and H. G. Barnard, representing the East Oklahoma Conference, and the Rev. R. E. L. Morgan of Oklahoma City, the Rev. J. W. Sims of Chickasha, Judge T. M. Robinson of Altus, and Dr. T. P. Howell of Davis, representing the West Oklahoma Conference.

Mr. Morgan, secretary to the commission, is educational secretary of the two conferences, a position he resigned the pastorate of the Broadway Methodist Church of Ardmore a few weeks ago to accept. He is devoting all his time to educational affairs of the church. For nine years he was a member of the board of education of the West Oklahoma Conference. He has the distinction of being a member of the Book Committee of the M. E. Church, South, which consists of six preachers and seven laymen elected by the General Conference of the church. He is also a member of the board of trustees of the Southern Methodist University of Dallas.

"This is to be one of the best Class A colleges west of the Mississippi River," says Mr. Morgan, "and naturally it will be a credit to the Methodist Church of Oklahoma. The two conferences are united on the project and there is no doubt of its being established. We are not seeking to put cities and towns in competition with each other, but we want to locate the school where it will have the best advantages and the largest possible fund for making it what we want it to be."

SCHOOL HEAD WRITES ABOUT BOOK SHORTAGE

Dear Superintendents:

For six months I have diligently endeavored to get the publishing houses to furnish books enough to supply the needs of our schools. At the time of the adoption every company bidding stated that they would furnish the books in time for the opening of schools in September. The Oklahoma Book Company and the Jasper Sipes Company have informed me that they immediately ordered a sufficient number of books to supply the schools for the entire year. The publishing houses which I have heard from, with but few exceptions, state that they have shipped a sufficient number of books for the entire year. I have requested a number of the agents of the publishing houses to send a circular letter to the superintendents of schools and ascertain whether or not any schools are short on particular books. Some have agreed to do this, and others have not done it.

Both of the state depositories approved the letter which I sent you under the date of November 18, 1919, advising you to order books parcel post or express direct from your local dealer. Yet, almost every mail brings us a complaint about shortage of books.

It is now time for the second semester. I have had a positive promise that there will be plenty of books on hand for all children by this time. Permit me to advise that in the event you are unable to secure any book or books from your local dealer, and have failed to get response from the state depositories, that you wire collect to the publishers of said book or books and advise them that you have failed to get the books and ask them to send the books direct to you by parcel post or express. You have the addresses of the publishing houses in the official book list which we have furnished you.

At this time I wish to advise that the exchange period on text books will expire August 1, 1920. In a

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking torics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

"Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 10c and 25c.

YANK TELLS OF NEED OF NEAR EAST PEOPLE

Special to the News:

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 23.—F. H. Miller of Detroit, who served in the aviation section of the American army in France, in a letter to F. L. Carpenter of Muskogee, secretary of the Near East Relief in Oklahoma, describes part of the suffering of Armenians and Syrians as he saw it while in charge of the transport of relief workers in the Erivan district, republic of Armenia. Also he tells of the needs of those peoples. He writes:

"Belgium and northern France suffered much during the war but not as Armenia and Syria have suffered. In the country districts there are scores of ruined villages and houses, some completely destroyed, others so badly damaged as to be almost beyond repair. On the farms trees were wantonly cut down, crops uprooted, buildings wrecked and tools carried away."

"The survivors are coming back to decimated families, ruined homes, wrecked farms, no food, little work and no prospects. Unless America aids promptly and generously star-

What a Court House Would Cost

On Saturday of this week the voters of Pontotoc County will vote on the proposition of issuing the bonds of the county for the purpose of erecting a court house and county jail. Thus far there has been no campaign made either for or against the bonds, and in order to furnish the voters of the county sufficient information to judge the merits of the proposition the Evening News on its own motion is submitting the following data to the public.

Amount of issue$200,000.00
Date of maturity25 years
Interest on bonds5 1-2 per cent
Premium on bonds (already contracted)$5,425.00

Additional cost of county each year—
(interest and sinking fund)$19,000.00
Present rent paid for court house each year.....$2,280.00
Net annual increase of cost to county.....$16,720.00
Total valuation of county for taxation.....$16,746,363.00
Increase in tax rate (if bonds carry).....1 mill (minus)

The following table will show the additional taxes paid by various taxpayers, if the bonds carry:

On a Valuation of—
$ 100.00$.10
$ 500.00$.50
$ 1,000.00$ 1.00
$ 2,000.00$ 2.00
$ 5,000.00$ 5.00
$10,000.00$10.00
$25,000.00$25.00

The gross increase in the annual cost to the county would be $19,000.00. The annual rent now being paid for a rented court house is $2,280.00, which, deducted from the gross increase, would leave a net increase of $16,720.00. To raise this increase, a tax of slightly less than 1 mill would have to be levied on the county's valuation of $16,746,363.00.

There should be counted in the present expense of the county a considerable item paid as insurance on the county records, due to the fact that there is no fire proof building in which to keep the records. In fact the strongest argument in favor of a new fire-proof court house is that the county records are liable to destruction by fire at any time.

In the recent statement of James J. McGraw concerning the demand of certain McAlester republicans that both McGraw and Hamon withdraw from the race for national committeeman, there is an expression frequently repeated that has a lot of political significance. The only answer that the man from Ponca makes is that the McAlester insurgents have not been heavy contributors to campaign funds. Five or six times McGraw says in his answer that the McAlester men have not donated to any extent, and, therefore, cannot be called good republicans. According to the spirit of his statement the only test of party fealty is the willingness to contribute the coin.

The expression of Mr. McGraw concerning campaign contributions is a sinister reflection of modern political sentiment insofar as politicians are concerned. With them it is only a game of dollars and a fight for spoils. More and more politics has degenerated into a scramble for loaves and fishes. Each year larger sums are demanded for campaign purposes and unless a citizen signs a check his party fealty counts for nothing. Principles are ignored and even ridiculed by men who fight political battles under the sign of the dollar mark.

Aside from the corruption which is an inevitable incident of such political practices there is a vital evil in a situation that more and more drives the man of limited means from political activity. Unless a man is wealthy, he carries a heavy handicap in a fight for political recognition. We often hear it said of some one of the brainiest citizens of Oklahoma: "He would make a splendid official, but he hasn't the money to make the race," or "he will be a candidate if he can raise the money." Thus the wealthy scoundrel is driving the best men of limited means from public life.

Statewide primaries have retired some of the best men in Oklahoma. The expense of a statewide campaign cannot be borne by any except wealthy men. The only way for a poor man to win a statewide election is to secure campaign donations from his friends or from interested concerns. This frequently places the successful aspirant under a mortgage to a vicious interest and opens the way to malfeasance and scandal. A man elected to office through the charity of a special interest is not going to find it easy to forget to favor that interest while in office. Yet the primary has come to stay and is one of our permanent institutions.

The Newberry case in Michigan is notorious only because it has been exposed and not because it is the only case of its kind. But the Newberry case illustrates the evil of huge expenditures in political campaigns and raises the very pertinent question: "How far in a Michigan contest would a man get who has no qualification but brains?" Unless he is wealthy, he is foolish for announcing.

This evil is a cancer affecting all parties alike. No political organization is free from the taint. Corruption is increasing year after year. Wealthy mediocrity is taking possession of public office. And the people are paying dear for the capers of spoilsmen.

More than two-thirds of January has gone, and the more we see of this year 1920 the better we seem to like it. We may be feeling better nowadays or simply misreading the signs of the times, but it seems to us that the world has taken a turn for the better. It may be that all the devilment in creation played out during 1919, and it may be that the world-wide high jinks of the old year makes any old thing look good in comparison. But it seems as if we can see a decided change for the better. Most of our troubles have been imaginary, anyway, and as soon as everybody quits predicting disaster, the world will be far on its road to recovery.

The more we see of this national price reduction campaign the more we understand why a man named Figg should be at the head of it. The only possible improvement would be to get a manager named Prunes.

More people are now asking questions about Havana than at any time since the Spanish-American war, and most of the talk started about the 16th of this month.

"A Village Called Perthes"

How many Americans have ever heard of Perthes, a village of the Champagne? And how many Americans have not heard of Chateau Thierry and Vaux and Serpy and Oureq?

For if any of our population have failed to hear of the villages clustering along the Marne northeast of Paris or of that obstinate defense of the Allied lines in July, 1918, when the armies of the German Crown Prince made the last drive towards Paris. The story of Chateau Thierry and the Marne is a familiar one—so familiar in fact that most Americans believe till this good day that the last drive was made along the Marne southwest of Reims and that the entire drive was within a crescent resting on Reims and Soissons and reaching to Chateau Thierry.

Not many Americans know that the heaviest part of the drive was EAST of Reims and that one of the most brilliant achievements of American arms was in the Champagne at "a village called Perthes." War correspondents were along the Marne and filled the press with accounts of the superb heroism of the French and Americans at Chateau Thierry. Consequently that part of the drive is familiar to all Americans. There were no war correspondents east of Reims. Consequently Americans are not informed as to what occurred at Perthes.

The Crown Prince on the night of Bastille Day—July 14—attacked on a front of fifty miles. Twenty divisions attacked west of Reims. Twenty-five divisions had been massed east of Reims, and following the heaviest artillery fire ever put forth by the German armies, they advanced to the attack at daybreak on July 15. The vital point of the Allied defensive was at the village of Perthes, held by the "Rainbow Division" of the American army. At another point in the line was the Fifteenth Infantry, a regiment of American negroes.

West of Reims the Germans forced the passage of the Marne and made considerable gains, only to be hurled back by one of the most determined counter-attacks in history. East of Reims, where the Crown Prince had massed his forces, the offensive was stopped dead in its tracks. Not an inch of ground was gained by the Hun.

Two French armies defended the country west of Reims. One army commanded by Gouraud held the lines to the east.

Gouraud was known to the people of France as the "Lion of the Argonne." He had lost an arm in the ill-fated expedition to Gallipoli. In the Argonne fighting of 1914 he had sustained an ugly wound in the thigh from shrapnel and by his heroism had saved his men from annihilation. He was in command in the Champagne when the last German drive began, and so alert had been his staff that he knew to a minute when the German barrage was to be put down and how many divisions were to advance to the charge. He also knew the point of most violent attack.

It was the belief of the German staff that the French would celebrate Bastille Day, that the French soldiers would be drinking, and that the French army would be off its guard. Therefore they decided to begin their artillery fire at midnight of the 14th. The artillery preparation for the assault was to last four hours and twenty-five minutes. Then the infantry was to advance in massed formation and overwhelm the French lines, which by that time would be shot to pieces by the artillery.

But all this was known to Gouraud. On the night of the 13th a French party had raided a German trench and had captured two German prisoners. These had revealed the German plans. They had told the exact minute the German artillery was to open. They had told the exact minute the infantry was to attack. They had told what divisions were to attack and exactly where each division was to attack. Moreover, they had told just where each division was to form its lines while the artillery preparation was under way.

As the French returned from their raid on the German trench, a French Grenadier said to an American doughboy: "You should have been with us. We use ze liquid fire. We burn him to death. It was verree beautiful."

Having all the information he needed, Gouraud formed his plans. His men were withdrawn from the front line trenches. Only volunteers were left to patrol the trenches abandoned and each of these volunteers knew that he was volunteering to be killed. All but sixty of them were killed. These sixty were afterwards decorated by their government.

At midnight the German artillery opened according to plan. But Gouraud had beaten them to it. Five minutes before the clocks struck the midnight hour every French and American gun opened. Behind the salient held by the Rainbow Division and certain French units, eighteen hundred Allied guns had been massed. These opened as one gun. Behind the German front lines their divisions had been massed for the attack and these were caught in a fearful tempest of steel. Knowing exactly where each German unit was to be stationed the Allied artillery knew exactly where to plant their shells. In one village a division of Prussians had been massed. Around this village a box barrage was put down by the French and not a German escaped unhurt.

When the waves of Germans advanced at daybreak they were stopped in their tracks. They had already been fearfully punished by the storm of shells. Several different attacks were dashed to pieces against the cliffs of the Rainbow Division. The negro doughboys of the Fifteenth Infantry here had their baptism of fire and fought like veterans. Not an inch of ground was won by the twenty-five divisions driven into the shambles by the German staff. They spent their strength in taking the empty front line trenches only to find their lines enfiladed by a hurricane of rifle and machine-gun fire.

An Oklahoma lad who fought at Perthes with the 117th Engineers of the Rainbow has told of that night and day of slaughter. "The engineers went in because every man was needed. Our regiment occupied the widest and deepest trench I ever saw. It was too wide at the top to furnish much protection from shrapnel. When the guns opened the ground simply heaved and rolled. Then when the smoke began to settle everything had an angry glare. We lay in a kind of daze. We were not exactly scared—we were too tired and hungry and sick to be scared. Dying was the easiest part. Just to our right was a regiment of mountaineers from Alabama. When the barrage started a big sergeant climbed out in front of the trench and yelled: 'Come on boys and take a look—it is the biggest show you ever saw.' But in a moment he was blown to pieces by a shell.

It seemed as though night would last forever. I remember noticing the most trivial things. A boy to one side of me was killed by shrapnel, and I remember wondering if I could run my little finger thru the hole made in his helmet by the splinter of shell. Another one of our boys had his head blown off and I noticed the nails had been knocked out of one of his shoes. I wondered for so long a time what had knocked those nails loose.

Then the German infantry came over and our boys yelled like panthers when they saw them coming. A lot of our Alabamians threw away their rifles and went out with trench knives to meet them. They never came back. I used my head and stayed in the trench, so I never got a scratch. During the morning one wave of Germans was cut off by a barrage that kept their reinforcements from coming up and cut off their retreat. They threw down their guns and marched into our trenches to surrender. But a lot of them got their throats cut when they jumped down into our lines."

The defense of the Champagne sector was vital. If the lines of Gouraud had been forced back, Chalons-sur-Marne would have fallen, the roads to the east would have been cut, Verdun would have been abandoned, and the eastern gateway into the heart of France would have been wide open. Never was greater service rendered the Allies than by the men who in the deep chalk trenches of the Champagne endured the heaviest artillery fire ever put down by Germany and crushed one of the heaviest battle formations the Hun ever sent to war. This was done in a large part at a village called Perthes.

Tulsa World: As we understand it, Congressman Herrell found that the Victor Berger quarters in the house of representatives did not need as much fumigation as thought when he first moved in.

Shawnee News: Everyone has given Mr. Bryan credit for being a godly man, even sinless, perhaps, but now comes along a Utah man and charges the great commoner with being responsible for the high cost of living.

Chickasha Express: Congressman Harrell is not a success as an explainer. His defense of his vote in the Berger case has not helped him. The facts in regard to Berger were so well known that Mr. Harrell cannot well plead ignorance without reflecting upon his own intelligence.

Shawnee News: The fellow who came home from overseas service and said "never again" and the folks at home who do not want any more of this war stuff will hardly take kindly to the way Leonard Wood is now talking about always being ready for war, for if we have a big fighting machine it means sure war sooner or later if some excuse has to trumped up for it. Wood may have played good politics in getting into the game early but he seems to be just like the Oklahoma republican leaders, for he talks too much.

Muskogee Times Democrat: The job of referee in bankruptcy under the federal court in Oklahoma used to be considered one of the best political appointments, but now a referee in bankruptcy has to have side lines to meet the grocery bills. Bankruptcy is getting to be a lost art in this section.

Dere Ed:
Ain't this here fite between McGraw in this corner and Hamon in that corner a grate affare for the spectators standpoint, meanin us what aint got no money up on the bout. Of course they is some Republicans with ringside seats and a lot of Jack in the hands of 3rd parties soda speak what is afraid of the outcome. Them fitters bin stallin along so much lately that some folks at McMeister has got a notion they know a man what can lick both of em put together, then I ask you Ed wood all bets be off? What makes my hair curl Ed is why the Republicans allow either one of these here men to represent them from this state if they is as incompetent and bad as each one says the other is. According to Thos. Jefferson or some other grate man "Where they is so much smoke they is bound to be fire," but I aint seen the self appointed guardian of this here universe a callin out not fire dept. They evidently like the kind of noise not beln used to nothin else since the day Roosevelt throwed sand in there transmishun. But layin all jokes to 1 side Ed this here scrap is as useless as for me or you to fite J. Dempsey for the World's champion cause this here committeeman is in office for the sole an donly purpose of handin out political plums in event the Republicans win the national electshun and they aint got no more chance to do that than has a prisoner to be found not guilty in Mayor Kitchen's court.

But what I started out to say all the time Ed was that seem as how the Republicans is bent on havin a committeeman, which you must admit is a necessary evil as far as they is concerned; and in the seleshun of the same is makin such a mess of it, then it ought to be a lesson to the Democrats what will finally have a use for there committeeman, to start rite and not have no mudslingin contest and at 1 and the same time give the office to some man what hasn't had so many weak spots pointed out. otherwise we wood lead the general public to believe that the best man we cud pick for the place bore a stricken resemblance to old man Ananias coupled with Senator Lodges' idee of the League of Nations.

Those Idealists who oppose intervention in Mexico are the same bunch who opposed fighting Germany until the German armies should land on our shores.

POMERENE WINS WAY OVER BOSSES

By News' Special Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 22.—There was a time in Ohio politics—back in the summer of 1910—when the democratic party was badly in need of a little plety and respectability.

The liquor and railroad interests had almost complete control of the democratic state convention.

The wet reactionaries at the state convention held in Dayton saw that they would have to make some real concessions to the discontents.

And that's how Atlee Pomerene, now U. S. senator, took the stage.

The bosses looked around for a man who had never taken a drink, in his life, never smoked a cigar, never cursed a cuss word, never missed a Sunday at church, and who had never taken orders from the wets or the railroads.

Picked Pomerene.

"Pomerene of Canton is the ideal man to put on the ticket with Harmon," they said. "He's been identified for years with the Tom Johnson crowd of reformers from Cleveland and the rank and file consider him one of the original Bryan men."

So they cornered Pomerene in a little room under the stage in Memorial Hall in Dayton that hot, sultry July afternoon.

Pomerene paced the floor as he listened to the words of the committee of bosses.

"But I don't want to go on the ticket for lieutenant governor," he pleaded. "I have no ambitions along that line. The next Ohio legislature may be democratic. If it is I want to be a candidate for he senate."

The bosses looked at him pityingly, but they didn't lay their cards on the table. They told him that his election as lieutenant governor might help that candidacy. However, they were very careful not to pledge him support for the senate.

Pomerene Elected.

So Pomerene was elected lieutenant governor of Ohio.

And then the fun began.

The legislature was overwhelmingly democratic and a democrat would be elected to succeed the republican, Charles F. Dick, in the U. S. senate.

The result had hardly been known however, before the biggest democratic boss in the state, Edward M. Hanley of Dayton, the democratic state chairman, announced himself for the senate. He had led the movement that had put Pomerene on the state ticket a few months before.

Then every other boss in the state, big and little, declared himself for Hanley and the strength of the democratic state organization was swung to the big boss.

For a few days it looked like a walkaway for Hanley. For his campaign manager he chose a rising young congressman from Dayton, James M. Cox, who, in the 10 years since that time, has three times been elected governor of Ohio and is now a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

Nobody of any consequence was for Pomerene for senator.

Hanley Discovered.

Then the newspapers discovered that Hanley was the Ohio agent for big gas and oil interests and was identified with nearly 20 other finance and public utility corporations.

Hanley was so vulnerable that the democratic legislators didn't dare to vote for him.

Pomerene, the pious, the good, the upright, the just, the serious-minded, fell direct heir to the storm of anti-Hanley sentiment and on the first ballot, in the democratic caucus, he got the nomination for the U. S. senate. Out of the 90 votes in the caucus, Manager Cox could muster only 10 for Hanley.

So Pomerene went to the senate, feeling more than ever that heaven was on his side. He became a staunch Wilson supporter.

Pomerene was opposed for reelection in 1916 by former Governor Myron T. Herrick. The betting, up to election day, was 3 to 1 in favor of Herrick.

However, Pomerene snowed Herrick under by 36,000.

Peculiar Backing.

Pomerene has a peculiar kind of strength with Ohio democrats. Nobody ever wasted any breath shouting for him; likewise, no Ohio democrat would ever think of saying "Dammit!" in his presence. He's so ponderous, so absorbed with what he thinks are heavy, weighty matters of state, that he never has time for levity, laughter or slaps on the back.

Pomerene is an Ohio product—born in Holmes county 36 years ago, educated in the common schools and at Vermilion Institute and later graduating from Princeton. He began practicing law in Canton in 1885 and was elected prosecuting attorney there in 1886—while William McKinley of Canton was being elected republican president.

TENANTS NOW DRIVING PROFITEER LANDLORDS

Profiteer landlords will be held to the straight and narrow path in paying their income taxes this spring, for the tenants are doing the driving and holding the whip.

Revenge is sweet to the tenant who has had to dig deep into his earnings to pay a high rental in 1919. Gathering his family around him, he takes his scratchy family pen in hand, searches the ink bottle for that last drop of ink, and with a master stroke informs the commissioner of internal revenue that he, Bill Brown, of the Hallroom Apartments, paid to John Smith, 13 Profiteer Avenue, Anywhere, U. S. A., $1200 for his three room flat during the year 1919.

By gathering these reports from all the Bill Browns who are running themselves ragged to pay their rent, the internal revenue bureau will have the information needed to see that the Profiteer Smiths pay proper tax or face prosecution.

The information returns now due covering payments of salaries, wages, rent, interest and other income serve useful data for running down tax-dodgers and for checking up millions of returns to see that proper tax is paid.

Large business houses have been making these information reports for several years and have co-operated wholeheartedly with the government's checking system. The

Eclipse GUARANTEED FOR FIVE YEARS AND WITH THE "FRESH AIR" VENTILATED OVEN

We are glad to say we handle Eclipse Gas Ranges. We have enough confidence in them to guarantee them for five years.

THE "VENTILATED OVEN" SAVES IN GAS AND FOOD

Food prepared in the Eclipse patented ventilated oven loses less in weight and retains to a much greater degree its natural flavors, than if prepared in any other type of oven.

This is due to the circulation of fresh, hot air, as against dry, radiated heat. And it works most economically, because it uses the heat that would otherwise be lost in radiation. The oven is uniformly heated. No overheated spots or cold corners. Your baking or roasting comes out thoroughly done—top, sides and bottom.

The five-year guaranteed Eclipse is made of the celebrated Armco Iron. Beautiful white enamel trimmings, Flexo enamel burner box, broiler pan and burner tray.

Announcement!

I have recently sold half interest in my Barber Shop to Jean Caruth who will hereafter be associated with me in the business.

We have just completed the installation of new fixtures in our shop at 123 East Main, which now makes it complete and modern in every detail. I am very grateful to my friends for having made it possible to have this nice shop, and assure you the same courteous treatment, and good service will continue.

If you are not already our customer, we would like for you to visit us and become one.

FRANKS ITEMS

Everybody certainly is enjoying these pretty sunshine days that we are having at present.

There is still a good deal of moving and changing about here in this community.

Bro. Harper filled his regular appointment here Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour.

We met last Wednesday night and organized a singing class here at this place, and from now on the class will meet on Wednesday and Sunday nights and have singing.
Everyone is invited to come out and take a part and help us.

Mr. J. Hugel is sick at this writing with the mumps.

The roads are so bad that our mail carrier can not come but about 2 times a week now, but we hope to have these roads improved in a few days.

The men of this community will have a regular road working the first of the week.

The school seems to be increasing in attendance from day to day

SUMMERS CHAPEL

Weather has been very bad for the last week, but indications are that we may have some fairer weather.

Owing to the disagreeable weather we had no Sunday School or preaching at the Chapel Sunday.

Moving is the order of the day in this part.

One week of school past, with fairly good attendance considering the bad weather.

Several in this section have cotton in the field yet.

J. V. Staats butchered hogs today (Monday).

Alvin Summers and Ransie Tucker spent Friday night with the Haskin boys. They all were in the west part of the county Saturday.

A. J. Wood made a business trip to Ada Friday, returning Saturday.

Quite a change has been made in our mail line from Maxwell to Center. The mail is now being carried through to Ada and back to Maxwell the same day. It is carried in a Ford Truck.

Three more nights of Singing School, which will be finished this week of the weather permits. Owing to the bad weather there was no school last week.

Wm. Ledford of Ada is visiting this week with his son J. M. Ledford of this place.

Owing to the delayance of the mail from Center to Ada last Tuesday our writing was too late for publication. Hope this will reach the office in time.

Baptists Lead Normals Into
Waters of Styx

The basketball game between the East Central team and the Baptists proved to be the thriller that was expected and then some. The large crowd that braved the inclement weather and muddy streets were kept constantly keyed up by the closeness of the contest and were kept on edge by the marvelous goal shooting of the tossers of both teams.

The Baptists got the jump and led throughout the first half by a margin of from one to four points. In this period, the passing, floor work and speed of the players was of a variety never before shown on a court in Ada. There was never a minute in this half, or the next, for that matter, when each goal was not seriously threatened. The first half ended with the visitors leading by a score of 17-13.

The East Centralites put on steam at the opening of the second period and a little more than held their own, tying the score when it was 26 to 26 near the end of the second half. At this point the local lads opened up with a spurt that bade fair to put the game safely away in the win column when the only
"time-out" of the game occurred.
From this time on East Central was able to sack the ball but once while the Baptists made three, all of them from near the center of the field.

The feature of the game was the brilliant shooting. All the goals were made from long distance and frequently from hard angles. Several that were made under the greatest handicaps. For East Central, C.
Roach excelled at this game, although the Baptist guards gave him special attention. Kidd hooked a couple of long ones also, and Chism, who was playing his first game, did some excellent work at the goal.

Heard and Vernon were in the game
all the time at guards but allowed the visitors more shots than our forwards were able to get.

Smith, the visitors' center was their best, both on floor and goal work. Sparrow and Aldridge were very much in evidence, the former getting three goals and the latter four.

Walter Wray, referee, handled
the game to the complete satisfaction of everyone and kept it moving.

The summary: Field goals, Roach
5, Smith 5, Aldridge 4, Chism 3,
Kidd 3, Sparrow 3, Randalls 2;
Foul goals, Roach 6, Smith 2, Score,
Baptists 32, East Central 28.

LADY DRUGGIST'S
ADVICE TAKEN

"My sister-in-law is a druggist.
She told me of several bad stomach and liver cases which were benefited by taking May's Wonderful Remedy and advised me to try it. I had numerous attacks due to bloating and had almost constant pain in my stomach before getting your remedy. I am feeling fine now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

THE EFFICIENCY OF ADVERTISING

If in a town where the merchants had never advertised much, they should form the practice of using publicity, what changes would take place?

On a non-advertising basis, if store buyers did find some special lot having exceptional worth for the money, they would not be able to attract public attention to it, and it might take them a long time to work it off.

On an advertising basis, if a store buyer had a chance to pick up a large lot at a reduced price, he would have confidence to go ahead. He could buy very largely in excess of the usual demand, depending upon advertising to bring in a lot of customers who would buy in advance of actual needs.

The first result of advertising, then, is to make it possible for merchants to do business in a bigger way, to buy in larger lots at lower prices, to take advantage of special opportunities and give their customers the benefit.

CONVICTIONS NOT EVERYTHING

Muskogee Times Democrat: Governor Robertson says there are five hundred men in the state penitentiary who ought never to have been sent there. We cannot dispute the Governor's figures because we know of no way of getting the information. We do, however, thoroughly agree with the governor that generally speaking, the attitude of county attorneys is to try to make a record by securing a high percentage of convictions of the number of cases tried. This is natural because the public also takes that view. A theory seems to have grown up that a county attorney is a "prosecuting" attorney and that unless he convicts the people brought before him for trial he is not much of a lawyer, and naturally no county attorney desires that reputation.

We believe this theory is wrong. It is the duty of a county attorney to investigate the complaints filed, and if the facts seem to justify, send the defendant to prison. But if it is equally the duty of a county attorney, if he finds the facts do not sustain the charge, to decline to prosecute the defendant. We do not believe judges are influenced in these matters so much as county attorneys are. Any judge who is, is not fitted to grace a bench. We have known one judge, and a federal judge at that, who took great pride in the fact that he tried a murder case every day for an entire term of court lasting nearly two weeks. We do not believe that a murder case can be tried and all the facts developed in one day. That judge made expediency rather than justice his hobby.

We believe that a county attorney and a judge render greater service by keeping up with court work and seeing that litigation is not delayed than they do by trying to establish a record for the number of convictions secured.

PIGS IN WINTER.

"Well," said Mrs. Black Pig, "winter is with us; we'll soon feel the cold."

"What is winter?" asked Mrs. Brown Pig.

"Winter is winter," said Mrs. Black Pig.

"Why you don't say so," said Mrs. Brown Pig.

"Yes, I do," returned Mrs. Black Pig.

"I don't know any more than I did before," said Mrs. Brown Pig.

"You were never great on adding to what little learning you had," said Mrs. Black Pig.

"My dear Mrs. Black Pig, don't be rude. I'm your neighbor and your friend."

"Ah," said Mrs. Black Pig, "that shows you're stupid. Just because I am your neighbor, it doesn't mean that I'm your friend."

"It should," said Mrs. Brown Pig.

"Maybe it should, but it doesn't," said Mrs. Black Pig, "and you ought to be wise enough to know it."

"Well, I'm glad to learn," said Mrs. Brown Pig.

"I'm very glad to learn. Just let me reach for that piece of weed you have there," she added, trying to grab a piece of weed from Mrs. Black Pig. She had to admit that she was trying to do it for Mrs. Black Pig, had seen her out of her right eye, which had been looking straight at her.

"If you were neighborly and a friend at the same time," said Mrs. Black Pig, "you wouldn't try to get my food away from me. Instead you would say, 'My dear neighbor, Mrs. Black Pig, and at the same time, my dear friend, Mrs. Black Pig, may I not give you some afternoon weed or some morning vegetable or some between-time carrots?'"

"I wouldn't be myself if I said such a thing," said Mrs. Brown Pig. "You wouldn't have me change my ways, would you?"

"I would like you to change yours and have everything for me," said Mrs. Black Pig.

"That would be quite unfair," said Mrs. Brown Pig, "so I will never change my ways."

"Neither will I," said Mrs. Black Pig, "so I guess we'd best be just neighbors and leave out the part about being friends."

"Perhaps it would be wiser," said Mrs. Brown Pig, "for you would not understand the meaning of friendship."

"It's just what you wouldn't understand," said Mrs. Black Pig.

"Your idea of friendship," said Mrs. Brown Pig, "would be to have everything done for you and never bother about anyone else."

"Isn't that your idea of friendship, too?" asked Mrs. Black Pig.

"Well, yes," agreed Mrs. Brown Pig.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Mrs. Black Pig, "we can never become great friends in the pig family. We can get along all right, but we can't become beautiful friends, and I'll tell you the reason."

"We are selfish, and if creatures are selfish they can't really understand friendship. For friendship means doing things that are often hard as long as they're being done for one's friends. Friendship means being unselfish and thinking of others and getting pleasure out of doing for others. And that is quite beyond the pig family."

"Oh, quit," said Mrs. Brown Pig. "We won't even talk about it any more, as long as you won't be the sort of friend who'll give me everything and not expect me to act friendly in return."

"But you were going to tell me what you meant by winter."

"Winter is the cold time of the year," said Mrs. Black Pig, "when we stay indoors all the time."

"Oh, I understand," said Mrs. Brown Pig. "But what difference does it make whether it is winter or not? As long as there is eating and sleeping to do the seasons make no difference."

"No difference at all," agreed Mrs. Black Pig. "Eating and sleeping are the things that make life worth while!"

His Idea.

Little Sydney was very upset about his mother's headache.

"Mumnie," he said, "when you have toothache, to get rid of it you have your teeth pulled out?"

"Yes, dear," wearily replied his mother.

"Well," replied Sydney, brightly, "why not have your hair pulled out to stop the headache?"

If it Pleases the Court

You say you can't be pleased in ready-to-wear clothes. WHO TOLD YOU?

You've never had to have a Pullman seat rebuilt to fit you, HAVE YOU?

Your tooth paste wasn't compounded especially for your teeth, WAS IT?

You've never turned down a piece of home-made bread—kicked at running to a fire—yawned at Douglas Fairbanks pictures or stormed at seeing your name in the Society Column, HAVE YOU?

You are just a regular, good fellow, AREN'T YOU? No better or worse than the average—ISN'T THAT RIGHT?

Your friends wear READY clothes and look well, DON'T THEY? So would you if you tried on the right kind—WILL YOU?

That last question is so important that we are going to ask it again—MAY WE?

Will you drop in the next time you are passing? There's no harm in trying on a few coats, IS THERE?

All right, then, WHEN CAN WE EXPECT YOU?

Put Up or Shut Up.

Mrs. Parks through her attorney makes bare her Arms, People of Ada, People among whom I have lived for the past and whom I expect to spend the remainder of my life, I have been retained to represent Mrs. Annie Parks in the matter of getting a home organized on East Main street in this city. Since taking this matter as attorney I have not met with the best encouragement, and in fact have been met with many requests to desist and let this woman make her way unprotected, and inasmuch as I have met with so many discouragements from those who stand well in society, I have the permission of Mrs. Parks to make bare to the public her past life. I am glad to have her permission to do so, and having understood that a committee will be appointed from the pastors of the city, also from the commercial club of the city, I now demand that a full and complete investigation be made and that the findings be made public, and from her cradle to her grave I am in a position to show where she has lived, and what she has done for the good of humanity.

I am ready to meet any charges that may be brought, and if after a full and fair investigation it is found that Mrs. Parks is honest, fair and competent, I shall expect the people of this city to co-operate with her if her cause is found to be a worthy one, and if after a full and fair investigation she is found not to be a worthy person she will step down and out and leave the work for humanity she has begun to others. Now this is no bluff, we either want those who have seen fit to bring those charges against her to put up or shut up.

Again we demand an investigation and a report from a committee of unbiased and fair minded men and women of this city.

Yours, R. C. ROLAND.

There's a difference between shoes and Shoes.

When you go into the first store you come to and buy the first pair of shoes you try on and think of price instead of cost, chances are you'll get just—shoes.

When you allow our experts to find the pair of shoes that exactly fit your feet, you get Shoes, with a capital S.

Shoes that will wear and be comfortable and good-looking because of better leather and workmanship.
